GUFFEE LOSES HIS CONTROL OF PARTY

"Reorganizers" Control the Democratic Convention at Harrisburg.

FAYETTE DELEGATION FLOPS

Climb on Band Wagon and Desert Guffee When They See Old Guard Going Down to Defeat—Greene County Follows Suite—The Ticket.

The Reorganizers controlled the Democratic State convention at Harrisburg yesterday and unseated Col. James M. Guffee, who for years has been in control of the party in this State. The Reorganizers were led by George W. Guthrie, Vance C. McCormick and Congressman A. Mitchell Palmer.

The Pennsylvania Delegates to the National Convention were pledged to support Woodrow Wilson for the Presidential nomination "as long as his name is before the convention." This does not give up all of the Reorganizers by Judge James G. Gordon and Thomas J. Ryan of Philadelphia and gives the new machine nothing to trade at Baltimore. As a result of the move 58 delegates are pledged to Wilson and the rest of Gordon and Ryan give the New Jersey Governor 70 at of the 78. The Pennsylvania delegation will have the privilege of adopting the unit rule, if it desires to do so.

The Reorganizers won their victory and control of the machine by a vote of 119 to 73. The test came on the election of Joseph O'Brien of Scranton to be permanent chairman, over Judge James Guy Gordon of Philadelphia. A mild coalition was created when the Fayette county delegation hopped over to the Reorganizers. Fayette county Democratic leaders have always been strong Guffeys and were expected to stand firm for his ticket. When the indications were plain that the Reorganizers would control the Fayette delegation graciously stepped out and boarded the band wagon. Greene and Somerset county delegations also went over to the opponents of Guffee.

For 18 years Col. Guffee has been National Committeeman from Pennsylvania. He will be succeeded by Congressman Palmer.

The convention nominated the entire ticket by acclamation, no opposition being offered to the Reorganizers' slate. William H. Harry of Chester is the candidate for State Treasurer and Robert E. Creswell of Johnstown was named for Auditor-General. The slate suggested by the Reorganizers' caucus was put through as follows:

Congressman-at-large, George B. Shaw; Westmoreland; Joseph Howey, Allegheny; George H. McLennan, Luton, and E. D. Greenawalt, Lancaster.

Delegates-at-large, A. Mitchell Palmer, Monroe; Vance C. McCormick, Dauphin; J. W. Biffle, Berks; Roland S. Morris, Philadelphia; George W. Guthrie, Allegheny; Charles S. Duncan, Adams; W. W. Bailey, Cambria; E. J. Lynde, Lackawanna; Charles H. Kurz, Centre; John H. Thornton, Philadelphia; Henry A. Wilson, Beaver, and Fred C. Kirkendall, Luzerne.

The convention ran in such a hurry to finish that it adjourned without nominating six of the 32 district electors. The state Executive Committee, of which Guffee is chairman, will fill these and any other vacancies which may arise on the ballot.

The ticket is not particularly strong, Biffle is looked upon as a good "pinch" hitter because he won out once before, Creswell was put on the ticket to help Warren Worth Bailey, of Johnstown, who has the Congressional nomination in the Cambria-Blair-Bedford district.

Congressman Curtis H. Green of the Westmoreland-Butler district has a hope of being re-elected and thought the nomination of Shaw for Congressman-at-large would help him. However saw a gambler's chance this year in Pennsylvania and succeeded in getting on the ticket. McLean of Luzerne, has nothing to recommend him, except having been defeated two years ago for Congress in the Luzerne district. Creswell was named because of his connection with organized labor. He was President of the State Federation of Labor until this year, when the Socialists took his office from him.

The platform declares for the initiative and referendum and for votes for women. It also strikes a blow at every charitable institution organization in the State receiving State aid. William J. Brennan saw the great danger in this attack on the homes, hospitals and institutions in the State supported in every church. He tried to have the plan eliminated from the platform, but Palmer would not permit the doing of an "I" or the erasing of a "P."

Charles W. Walker was chosen Democratic Presidential elector from this district.

The Fayette county delegation is expected home today. W. H. McLean, who went to Harrisburg to watch the proceedings, returned this morning, as did George T. Howey, one of the delegates. Delegates Charles H. Franks and F. H. McNeill are expected home this afternoon.

In addition to Dr. George NEW ORLEANS, La., May 8.—Letters, etc., in great peril and efforts will be made to take the inhabitants out in boats today.

AMALGAMATED ASSOCIATION HOLDS ANNUAL CONVENTION

Not Expected That Radical Demands Will Be Made for Wage Increase.

CHICAGO, May 8.—What promises to be the most interesting and important convention since the birth of the Amalgamated Association of the Iron and Steel Workers of America convened here yesterday. Delegates representing thousands of wage earners scattered throughout different parts of the country will for the next 10 days or two weeks make attempts to readjust the wage problem to the satisfaction of members of the organization and the corporations.

Upon their deliberations it can be said the regulation of the wages of the great majority of the iron and steel workers of the United States, both non-union and union, will hinge. As a forerunner of the proceedings and a statement made last night by President John Williams of Pittsburgh, would indicate that the radical demands will be made by the association for the wage increase for the coming year. While a great many of the delegates, of whom there are about 150 present now, favor the demanding of a substantial increase in the wages of all workers in the iron and steel industries, the more conservative elements are inclined to the belief that better results for the organization in the future will be attained in milder demands are made.

BASILONE IDENTIFIES BLACK HAND MEMBER

Four of the Gang are Indicted by Federal Grand Jury.

ONE IS FELLOW TOWNSMAN

Nicola Formerly Worked For Baltimore & Ohio Here and Did His Banking With Italian Banker Victim Met Man at Midnight in Pittsburgh.

Giacomo Corrado and Alfonso Basilone returned last night from Pittsburgh where they attended the hearing before the Federal Grand Jury yesterday. Basilone went to identify one of the alleged members of the gang that has been sending him Italian bank notes and "Red Mask" letters containing the past.

Basilone did not appear in the proceedings yesterday afternoon at which the Grand Jury returned indictments against Pasquale Crittiano, an alleged leader, and Antonio Nicola, Pietro Cristiano and Giuseppe Vecchio. A score or more Italians gave testimony before the Grand Jury after being promised protection from the gang by the government. The case is being prosecuted by the Postlethwait Department and the State Constabulary.

One member of the gang did not appear before the Grand Jury. He is being held at Beaver Falls where he is charged with blowing up a house. His name is Nick Dugusta and he formerly worked here and did his banking with Basilone who is in business here. Dugusta worked on the Baltimore & Ohio and his frequent trips to the bank enabled him to see that Basilone had a good deal more.

SPASM OF INVESTIGATIONS HAS CONGRESS IN GRASP

Minority Leader Main Declares They Have Already Cost $75,000.

United Press Telegram.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—This House will go down in history as the "Investigating Congress." Such at least is the opinion of Minority Leader Mann.

The Democrats have spent $70,000 in investigations, the militant Republicans declared.

Today the House is in the throes of several investigations, with several more concluded and still more threatening. Never have so many House "spasm" occurred during a single session in Washington.

Just now the "Money Trust" is being fought into by three House committees, the Banking and Currency, the Interstate Commerce and the Judiciary. The "Shipping Trust" is being probed by the Merchant Marine Committee. The "Steel Trust" investigation by the Stanley Committee is practically concluded. Also the Florida Everglades investigation has been finished.

Other investigations ahead are the "Smelter Trust" and "Bassell Trust" inquiries. The "Woolen Trust" has temporarily, at least, escaped threatened investigation as a result of disclosures before the Rules Committee during its investigation of the textile workers' strike at Lawrence, Mass.

Campaign material guitars are being ground out and polished off by the official Congressional investigators, who are aided by "experts" of many kinds, statisticians, attorneys and rooms full of clerks.

NEW TRACK ALMOST DONE.

Within Ten More Days, Will Be Finished to Indian Creek.

The new gauge track at the Baltimore & Ohio extending from the yards here to Indian Creek is well on its way to completion and with weather favorable the work will be finished in ten days.

With the river track completed it will be possible to transfer freight consigned to the local yards at Indian Creek to their own track where they will not be subject to delays of the main track. Because of the laying of the new track the river wall is being strengthened.

Kendall here, of the Kendall Lumber Company was in town this morning looking after his interests here. He is Alternate Delegate to the Republican National Convention from this district.

TREASURER CRAFT MAKES HIS REPORT

Shows What Licensed Hotels, Breweries and Distilleries Pay.

$10,000 FROM THE HOTEL MEN

Overholst Distillery Pays Largest Amount to County—Attorneys Got None Less Than $200 for Handling Applications From Three Big Towns.

Special to The Courier.

UNIONTOWN, May 8.—County Treasurer Craft has just made his monthly report and remittances to the State. The past month was a good one according to receipts, which were large, because during the past month liquor dealers took out licenses for the ensuing year. Few persons not in touch with the affairs of the county, have any idea what the liquor licenses cost.

Each hotel, distillery and brewery must pay license fee in addition to the United States Government license, which costs $25, and must be paid by all who sell liquor. The fees paid by the distillers and breweries go to the State. The license fees paid by hotel keepers are divided, part of each going to the State, the county and the borough or township.

This year in Fayette county $27,460 was the total sum paid by proprietors of licensed hotels and owners of distilleries and breweries. The greater part of this amount was turned over to the State. Many of the distillers escaped paying large fees because they were not producing liquor. Each distillery and brewery must pay in accordance with its production.

Fifty-two licensed hotels in this county paid $10,000. These hotels are in the boroughs and must pay $200 each. There are eight licensed hotels in the township which pay $100 each. Of the $200 paid by each hotel in a borough, $120 goes to the borough, $50 to the State and $30 to the county. Of the $100 paid by each hotel in a township, $60 is given to the township and $15 to the county.

Six distilleries paid $1,000 each. One paid $1,500 and two paid $750 each.

Of the distilleries in boroughs three paid $100 each, one $200, one $250 each, one $350 and one $1,000.

The distilleries in the townships varied from $100 to $200 each. Four of them paid $100 each, one $2,000, one $400 and one $200. The Overholst distillery paid the largest sum.

According to the fee bill adopted by the attorney of Fayette county an application for a hotel license in Unifontown, Connellsville and Brownsville must pay the attorney not less than $500. In case a new application is refused the attorney charges not less than $100. Breweries are rated at $300 as the minimum charge and distilleries range from $100 to $200. There are minimum charges, many attorneys charging a great deal more.

Basilone did not appear in the proceedings yesterday afternoon at which the Grand Jury returned indictments against Pasquale Crittiano, an alleged leader, and Antonio Nicola, Pietro Cristiano and Giuseppe Vecchio.

A score or more Italians gave testimony before the Grand Jury after being promised protection from the gang by the government. The case is being prosecuted by the Postlethwait Department and the State Constabulary.

One member of the gang did not appear before the Grand Jury. He is being held at Beaver Falls where he is charged with blowing up a house. His name is Nick Dugusta and he formerly worked here and did his banking with Basilone who is in business here.

Dugusta worked on the Baltimore & Ohio and his frequent trips to the bank enabled him to see that Basilone had a great deal more.

OVERHOLT DISTILLERY WILL ADD 39,000 BARRELS TO CAPACITY.

LATEST CONSTRUCTION DESIGN

Big Building Will Be Seven Stories High, of Concrete, Steel, Stone and Brick—Engineers Staking Out Lines For an Early Start—Big Contract.

A. Overholst & Company have awarded the contract for the construction of a mammoth bonded warehouse at the Broad Ford plant.

Engineers are already staking off the ground and the Hollinger-Andrews Construction Company will start work immediately.

The new warehouse will occupy a space 119 by 165 feet. It will be seven stories high, constructed of concrete, steel, stone and brick. The racking system will be used.

The new warehouse will be equipped with an electric elevator and heated by low pressure steam. Twelve thousand feet of radiation will be required in the heating system.

Increased in storage has made it necessary for the Overholst firm to enlarge its storage capacity. The new warehouse will have a capacity of 35,000 barrels.

Overholst & Company has made it necessary for the Overholst firm to enlarge its storage capacity. The new warehouse will have a capacity of 35,000 barrels.

President of Council Did Not Have Firm Enough Grip—Many Prisoners.

When James H. Millard, President of Council, attempted to play police officer at the circus grounds yesterday, when an alleged pickpocket was "caught in the act," the man broke free and ran into town with many in pursuit. Charles Smith, the alleged pickpocket, jerked away from the Comedian's grasp and ran down Water street. Fireman Arch Holliday and Constable Rutherford took up the chase and succeeded in running the man down at the Main street bridge. He was committed to jail for a hearing. County Detective John J. Smith made the information and took the prisoner to Uniontown.

Police business was brisk throughout yesterday but most of the business was not on a cash basis. The proceeds of the day barely netted the borough treasury $10. So numerous were the prisoners that it was necessary to hold court at night.

Today the House is in the throes of several investigations, with several more concluded and still more threatening. Never have so many House "spasm" occurred during a single session in Washington.

Fast now the "Money Trust" is being fought into by three House committees, the Banking and Currency, the Interstate Commerce and the Judiciary. ## STARTS NOTIFYING.

Hotels and Fruit Dealers Must Stop Violation of Borough Ordinances.

Health Officer Ritter this morning started to notify the hotel owners and proprietors of fruit stands of the violation of borough ordinances pointed out by the Board of Health. The ordinance governing the placing of exposed fruit 18 inches will be rigidly enforced.

Although no ordinance governing the refilling of milk bottles the dealers will be asked to stop the practice.

POLICE FORCE BUSY.

Two Men and Four Cows Captured by Ritter.

Officer Samuel Ritter of South Connellsville arrested John and James McElhaney, brothers, and both of South Connellsville, last evening for drunkenness and disorderly conduct. They were given a hearing this morning and John paid a fine of $3 and James a fine of $2. It was James first offense.

Last night Officer Ritter also arrested four stray cows in the borough. At noon they were still being held. The owner of the cows is thought to be Daniel Merron of near South Connellsville.

PRINCIPAL COBAUGH NOT CANDIDATE FOR PLACE

Will Not Apply For High School Postion During the Coming Term.

Principal Bruce U. P. Cobough of High School today announced that he would not be a candidate for reelection. His future plans have not yet been matured but in any event he will not seek to succeed himself as Principal of the High School here, a position he has held with credit for the past three years.

Mr. Cobough is just concluding his third term as principal of the High School. He comes here from New Jersey and succeeded Fred G. Masters, who left Connellsville to accept a better position in Pittsburgh. Under Principal Cobough, the high standard established by former Superintendent W. S. Deffenbaugh and Fred G. Masters has been maintained. At the recent conference of High School principals held at State College, the authorities there asked Principal Cobough to send all the students he could to State. The State professors are more than pleased with the preliminary training given in the Connellsville High School.

Captain E. Dunn, Smith Dawson and Henry Kurtz, the committee appointed by the William F. Kurtz Post No. 104, Grand Army of the Republic, have announced the following arrangements:

SOCIETY.

Mite Box Opening.

Largely attended was the annual mite box meeting of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal church held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. W. Wright in Wilts Road. The meeting was one of unusual interest. Mrs. William Rogers presided and conducted the devotional exercises. Nine tracts on "Mite Boxes" were read by members of the society. Mrs. William Rogers read a selection from the lesson, which was "Home Missions." Mrs. R. L. Dunn read a tract, "Just a Mite Box." The following other tracts were read: "The mite box speech"; Mrs. George McClay; "Pilgrim mite boxes"; Mrs. F. W. Wright; "Troublesome mite boxes"; Mrs. A. A. Clarke. During the business meeting the district convention to be held tomorrow at Mt. Pleasant was discussed. A social hour and refreshments followed.

"80" Party.

The Ladies' Circle in the German Liederkrantz will hold a "cuchi" and "80" party this evening in the Liederkrantz hall on East Peacock Avenue.

Young Women Club Meets.

The Greenwood Ladies' Fancy Work Club was entertained yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Matthew Crowley at her home in Kirch street, Greenwood. Twenty ladies were present and spent the afternoon in crocheting and making artificial flowers. Some difficult patterns of lace were taken up. Mrs. John Crowley tendered a piano solo in a very delightful manner. A contest, "Song and Authors," was an interesting feature of the meeting. Luncheon followed. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. T. Scott Dunn.

Physicians at Unkown.

Forty physicians from all over Fayette county were present at the regular meeting of the Fayette County Medical Society held last evening in the Municipal hall in Uniontown. At the business session it was resolved to write to the Pennsylvania Senators and Congressmen urging them to support the Owen bill which provides for national department of health. Dr. E. A. Woods of Pittsburgh was a guest of the society and spoke on the "Early Diagnosis of Cancer." His talk was practical and was illustrated by lantern slides of the different stages of cancer. He urged the importance of patients being examined at least twice a year when the cancer is in its early stages and where there is a possibility of recovery. Dr. Woods is giving a series of talks on cancer in the interest of the cancer campaign which is being conducted by the committee of the State Medical Society.

Dr. Nason of Roaring Run, Blair county, spoke in the interest of the work of the society. Dr. Nason is district counselor for about five counties. A committee composed of Dr. J. S. Hackney, Dr. O. R. Altman and Dr. J. P. Rittenour of Uniontown was appointed to arrange for the July meeting which is always in the form of an outing to the mountains. Among the doctors present were Drs. H. J. Coll, T. M. Richard, L. E. McCormick, W. J. Church, E. B. Edie of Connellsburg; Dr. J. Bell of Dawson; Dr. Jessie Bartlett and Dr. Horace Hall of Vanderford; Dr. Hart of Broadwood, and "the New Minister."

The cantata, "The New Minister," will be presented tomorrow evening in the First Baptist church under the auspices of the B. B. Class of the First Baptist church. The cast is as follows: "The New Minister," A. Boyer; "Trot, Trotto!" Edward Santmyer; "Clementine," Harold Boyd; "Fitz-John Shant," Harry Workman; "Ode, Hospeck," James List; "Hello, Bunting," Trevor Lewis; "Sed, Perkin," Alvin Cummings; "Dally Lovelot," Madie Grimes; "Hannette Sherp," Midge Cummins; "Odele Harbin," Margaret Lyon; "Pentunti Simplis," Adelle Santmyer; "August Wind," Michelle Cummins; "Mrs. Dillup," Norma Woodard; "Uncle Alex," Harry Merriam; "Ladies Att. Sleet," Ellen Stauffer; Charabelle Meyer; Catherine Yocom; Mrs. A. Dyer; Grace Biggs; Sarah Wilhelms; Sue Ruth; Bevra Sibley; "Old Maids," Emma J. Rhodes; Laura Stafford; Tillie Glorius; Rose Wilhelms; Ethel Courchoum. No admission will be charged. A silver offering will be taken.

Attended Dawson Dance.

Mrs. Gwendolyn Richter, Robert Morton, Carl Snair, Edward Santmyer, J. R. Davidson and Albert Donnelly, all of Connellsburg, and Miss Ethel Neely of Butler were out of town guests at a delightful dance given last evening in the Veterans' Banquet hall at Dawson under the sponsorship of Messrs. Moore, Porter, Works and Henry. About thirty-five couples were present. Dancing was indulged in until 11:30 o'clock. Kiferle's orchestra rendered the music.

MANY DISCUSS OBJECT OF TOUR

ROBERT GARLAND, G. BROWN HILL, D. P. BLACK.

SURE TO GET RESULTS.

"Everything Comes to Those Who Go After Things the Other Fellow is Waiting For."

PITTSBURG, May 8.—Just why so many Pittsburgers go to so much expense in making trade extension tours is often discussed in the outlying places. Naturally the coming trip, which occurs May 21, 22, 23 and 24 is being discussed.

McKeever, West Newton, Connellsville, Washington and Uniontown, Pa.; Cumberland, Md.; Morgan, Keyser, Pleasanton, Grafton, Fairmont, Marion, Clarksburg, Parkersburg, Sisterville, New Martinsville, Wheeling, W. Va., and Marietta, O., where stops are to be made, will be interested. The good feeling engendered by these visits, it is claimed, more than justify the outlay.

One of the most active members of the trade extension committee is G. Brown Hill. He is a native of Washington, D. C., and has been in business in Pittsburg fourteen years. He is the vice president and treasurer of the Doubleday Hill Electric company, one of the largest concerns of its kind in Pittsburg.

Robert Garland is vice president of the big organization. He is at the head of the Garland Corporation, one of the biggest business concerns in the Steel City. He is also a member of Pittsburg's nine council. D. P. Black is also a vice president. He is the president of the Real Estate Trust Company of Pittsburg and was a member of the first councilmanic body of Pittsburg.

The Democratic State Convention.

The Democratic party of Pennsylvania has announced its long-time and easy loss. Upton James Madison Gaffey, and set in its seat, the party machine a triumvirate composed of Congressman A. Mitchell Palmer, George W. Guthrie and George E. McCormick, representing the East, the West and the Center. Whether all coal will be divided into three parts for convenience of ruling is not announced.

History tells us that the Roman Trifluminate didn't last very long. The survival of the fistest became the sole and only boss. Who will be the fistest in the present Trifluminate, if any, will be told in time. Meanwhile it may be mentioned in passing that the Democratic party has excluded one boss for three. The form of its machine is different, but the substance is the same.

The platform adopted is as valid as the Reform pretenses of the Reorganizers.

GOMORRAH POLITICS.

By Isaac of Yukon.

The citizens of Gomorrah were pacifiers. No one ever heard of them instituting anything. The tactics used by successful business men and politicians were never copied by any one. Each man had his own particular system of pulling down chunk of renown from the sky in a manner that made other fellows stand by and take another look.

Gomorrah politics and politicians were geared with an alternating current that made the candidates make more revolutions among the people for votes than a foreigner with five dogs who tried to adghost the answer.

The man who imagines that politics in Gomorrah were rotten is entitled to another guess. Politics were not permitted to decompose or get tainted. The berate hustling done by the candidates always kept a current of distilled air sweeping over the political field.

As soon as a man announced his candidacy in the Gomorrah Weekly Appeal to Reason, that week the people got after and trampled him so badly that, when elected, it was necessary to shell out two or three salaries, ship home a lot of furniture from the Gomorrah State House and have the man who furnished the Capitol with white marble statuary to erect statuary at his home of "Hunter tricking the people."

In Gomorrah, the people, not their leaders, at the candidate's first. They crowded around the candidates forcing them to buy concert tickets for all guests, urging them to buy raffle chances on a Gomorrah automobile, requesting them to help lift the First Street Church debt, to donate a sack of potatoes to the Old Ladies' Home, to give the price of a load of coal to the A. M. E. R. S. congregation, a smoked ham or two and a barrel of vinegar for the Business Men's banquet.

One of the most singular things in connection with the work of the convention was the nomination for State Treasurer of James W. H. Derry, who but a few short years ago after voluntarily placing his support to the Democratic ticket nominated at Williamsport, accepted the nomination of the Keystone party for Governor and thereby destroyed all Democratic hope of success. Yet this hardened boisterous and traitor comes back into camp and is acclaimed by both Democratic factions as the logical candidate for State Treasurer. In these retrograde days of reform, it seems that the more devout the record of an ambitious politician the straighter his pathway to success. Even Colton Roosevelt, ignoring his self-imposed pledge never again to be a candidate for President and is strenuously campaigning for a Third Term, Party service and personal constituency count for little in the ranks of professional reform.

The Democratic State Convention was perhaps more interesting than important. It must be remembered that it contained but 183 delegates representing the mere wreck of a party, and that this wreck has been split in half on the basis of uncompromising faction. Boss Gaffey gave courageous ear to the protests of his opponents and sought always to smooth out the ugly wrinkles of the opposition by reasonable concessions. He went not after the straying lambs and brought them back to the fold. The Trifluminate has turned them loose and given them not even an invitation to follow the Wagoner trail.

AGREED TO DIVIDE FEDERAL BUSINESS*More Light is Shed on Pools in Government's Suit*TO DISSOLVE THE STEEL TRUST

Rules of the Horseshoe Association Placed in Evidence—Secretary of the Pool Gives Evidence of Price Fixing by "Supervisor" "Fixing" Bid

NEW YORK, May 8.—The American Steel and Wire Company, one of the biggest of the subsidiaries of the United States Steel Corporation, was a partner to pool agreements with other manufacturers whereby prices on the United States Government bids were fixed and the business divided among the pool members, according to testimony given yesterday in the Government suit to dissolve the corporation under the Sherman antitrust law.

The testimony was given by Samuel J. Bailey of the office of E. B. Jackson, "supervisor" of the famous wire pools. The commissioners were indicted and fined a year ago. Bailey acted as secretary of the Horseshoe Association, one of the seven pools, and explained in detail how the horse-shoe business of the company was managed. The evidence was introduced by the Government in support of its contention that the American Steel and Wire Company was itself an illegal combination.

Bailey identified a copy of the rules and regulations of the Horseshoe Association, explaining that the original as well as the minutes of the meetings at which they were adopted had disappeared. The rules fixed the price per kg; at which all members of the association should sell horse-shoes, price being changed when necessary, the witness explained, at monthly meetings. Each member was allotted a certain percentage of the business, and in case his monthly sales exceeded his allotment he was to pay cash into the association equivalent to the amount of the excess. If they were less, the association was to make up the deficiency. A definite penalty of $1,000 was provided for violation of the rules.

In the case of government bids, Bailey said Jackson selected the member who was to make the lowest bid and instructed other members to bid higher. "Jackson fixed the price of the lowest bid," said Bailey, "and instructed the other members to bid 1 or 2 cents a kg higher. The members were given an opportunity to bid for the government business in turn so that everybody was about even at the end of the year."

Bailey identified a number of letters written by Jackson to the Bryden Horseshoe Company, fixing the price on government contracts.

One written in 1906 fixed the price the Bryden company was to bid on horse and mule shoes wanted by the Isthmus Canal Commission. The Bryden company's price on the horse-shoes was to be $3.45 a kg. New Orleans delivery, but the American Steel and Wire Company, the letter stated, was to get the contract.

Another letter was written November 15, 1907, giving notification that the quartermaster's department of the army needed 730 kgs of horse-shoes and 730 kgs of mule shoes.

"This business may come to you from jobbers at export prices," read the letter; "see that no export prices are quoted to the jobbers."

NEWS OF A DAY IN SCOTTDALE

Successful Climax of Vigorous Campaign Among the Odd Fellows.

GET SIXTY-SIX NEW MEMBERS

.Funeral of Well Known Young Woman Took Place Today—The Diamonds Hidden From Burglars Were Throw Away—Other Notes.

Special to The Courier.
SCOTTDALE, May 8.—A successful climax of the recent very vigorous campaign for new members was made by two tests of the Scottdale Lodge No. 884, O. O. F. New members were initiated with fitting ceremony in the Odd Fellows' hall last evening. The occasion was one of the greatest celebrations in local lodges, and there was a full representation of the home lodges, together with some guests from other towns.

The contest was inaugurated under the leadership of Burgess R. E. Ellis and President of Council, W. L. Schaffer, the former heading the activities of the "Reds" and the latter the fortunes of the "Blues." The latter finally won out, although the contest was very close throughout its course, one day standing 7 to 6 in favor of the Blue, another day 13 to 14 in favor of the Reds and still another day 27 to 26 in favor of the Reds.

The invitation was followed by a collation, and the occasion concluded before the Grand Lodge meeting will bring Scottdale to the fore with a membership record to report at the national gathering.

GENERAL TODAY.
The funeral of Mrs. Florence Pringle Newcomer, wife of L. S. Newcomer, who died on Sunday at her home in Brownsville, took place from the United Methodist church of which she was a member this forenoon. The services were in charge of the pastor, Rev. H. W. Milton, assisted by Rev. H. S. Piper, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church. Burial was in the Scottdale cemetery. Mrs. Newcomer was aged 52 years, four months and nine days, and her death followed an illness of six months ensuing an operation, but during all this time she bore her sufferings with Christian fortitude and patience. The deceased was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Soper, was born in Scottdale and attended the schools of this place. She is survived by her parents, and three brothers and one sister, George, Ralph, and Walter and Mrs. Violet Johnston and leaves her husband and the following children: C. V. Ralph, Leota and Eugene.

DIX SMITH THIS EVENING.
There is a great deal of interest among the churches over the lecture to be given this evening in the Methodist Episcopal church by Rev. Fred Smith, assistant secretary of the Temperance department of the church. The other churches of town are preparing to attend this lecture instead of holding the regular prayer meetings. The lecture is free.

LOST THE DIAMONDS.
Mrs. J. Ruppe Myers of Greensburg has several large and valuable diamonds and has been in the habit of putting her rings at night in an umbrella which stood in a closet and thus to circumvent any possible burglars. While Miss Helen Overholser was visiting Mrs. Myers yesterday, the latter lost an umbrella for her friend, and picked up the diamond-filled one. As a consequence, the young ladies not knowing of the umbrella being a jewel, were readily surprised to lose it when Mrs. Myers recovered her loss. The diamonds were advertised for and last night three of the four had been returned by people who found them, where they had been found when thrown out of the umbrella when it was raised. There is a large reward offered for the return of the ring.

OPERATED ON.
Miss Minnie Loucks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Loucks of Brookway, was operated on at the Elizabethtown hospital yesterday for appendicitis, and reports today say that the patient is doing as well as can be expected.

GOOD-BYE CATARACT.
Hymen quickly clears stuffed-up head and stops sniffling and hawking.

In the morning, shortly after you awake, dear reader, do you have to hawk and strain to get that stubborn phlegm out of your throat?

Not rid of cataract now, it will grow worse as you grow older. One day of breathing pleasure, healing HYOMUL, pronounced Hylomuline, the guaranteed cataract remedy, will give you much relief. And, if you still wonder why you doubted the statement that HYOMUL would end the most aggravating case of cataract, remember HYOMUL does not contain any cocaine, opium or other habitual drugs.

A hard rubber indigestible tablet inhaler and a bottle of HYOMUL costs $1.00. This is called the HYOMUL cutlet. If one bottle does not banish cataract, you can get another for 50 cents at A. A. Clatke's and druggists everywhere.

Bellevernon Wedding.

The marriage of Miss Susie Price, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Price of Bellevernon, and Charles Connor, also of Bellevernon, will be solemnized tomorrow evening at the home of the bride-elect in the presence of only the members of the two families and a few intimate friends. Among the out-of-town guests to attend are Mr. and Mrs. John Vanatta of Connellsville. Mrs. Vanatta is a sister of Miss Price.

Cat Shelters.

Coal transported over the Huntingdon and Broad Top railway last week amounted to 22,710 tons, an increase of 400 tons, over to date, 57,547, an increase of 120,774 tons.

BOYS' BRIGADE FORMED; AUXILIARY TO COMPANY C

Somerset Youngsters are Interested in Movement Started by Captain Crouse.

SCOTTSBURG, May 8.—The Boy's Brigade, an auxiliary organization of Company C, 10th Regiment, National Guard of Pennsylvania, was formed Saturday evening by Captain Samuel S. Crouse. The enrollment is already between fifty and one hundred, those being that many recruits at the initial meeting. However, Captain Crouse has fixed no limit to the membership of the association and, like the historic Fifteenth Horse Brigade, there may be six hundred.

The brigade proposition has been considered by Captain Crouse for a year or more, and will be completed during the summer school session, all the members being of school age. It is planned to make the brigade experimental in aid to the schools. One of the first things in which the boys will be instructed will be strict military discipline, the effect of which will be tested in evidence when school opens next fall, when it is expected the young militiamen will be well trained. In such event the rod could safely be discarded, as the pupils would carry out the suggestions of the school teacher with the same precision as they would unquestioningly comply with the military orders of their commanding officer.

DON'T BE NERVOUS AND RUN-DOWN

New Tonic, Tona Vita, Will Positively Restore Your Old Vitality.

Nervousness, depression of spirits, lack of energy, all run down, these are the chief symptoms of nervous debility, the modern affliction caused largely by the rush, bustle and worry of modern life.

If you are a sufferer from this all-too-common complaint, and cannot go to a high priced sanitarium to have rest and diet build you up, you should read carefully the following statement by C. N. Hunt, Esq., of 602 Sixth-st., Milwaukee, Wis., concerning the remarkable new tonic, "Tona Vita" that has made such a great record during the past year. Mr. Hunt says: "For a number of years my wife has been a sufferer from a continuous run down, nervous condition and stomach trouble. I took her to a number of doctors, but none seemed to give her any relief. She grew constantly worse and her entire system became affected.

"She could hardly eat anything and would say the very thought of eating made her sick. She caught one bad cold after another and was always tired and languid. She had bad headaches and attacks of dizziness.

"I got some Tona Vita a few months ago. My wife began taking the tonic that night and we were pleasantly surprised to notice an improvement after the second day. She is now like a different woman. The nervousness and depression are all gone, and she eats and sleeps better than she has for years. It seems wonderful to note such a change in her. I believe 'Tona Vita' is worth its weight in gold."

If you are debilitated and run down, above all things try "Tona Vita". You will never regret it, as it will build you up like magic. It is the finest preparation now on the market.

A. A. Clarke has the agency for this great medicine in Connellsville. The price will be returned if it doesn't meet with your entire approval. The Approved Formula Co., Dayton, O.

PRIZES FOR PLAYERS ALREADY OFFERED

First One to Make Homer on Home Grounds Has Something Coming.

RAZOR AND A PAIR OF SHOES

Graham & Company and Horner's
Crowley Shoe Store Toss Their Hats
in the Ring—Exhibition Games Scheduled This Week—Players Fine.

Frank R. Graham, of Graham & Company, was the first merchant to make an offer to the home player that making a home run this year. He has offered a fine razor to the player doing the stunt. The only restriction on the offer is that the player must do it on the home grounds and that it must be a legitimate home run. The Horner-Crowley Company has offered a pair of shoes to the first home player negotiating a home run on the home field. Other offers will likely be made.

It appears that Manager Wilson's request for all the stores to close from 3 to 6 o'clock on the opening day has met with approval. Many merchants who have talked to the manager have agreed to his request.

The first exhibition game of the season will be played this afternoon when the team will go to Ligonier for a game with the Frick champs. Manager Wilson will be given another trial by Manager Wilson. He and Sheets will divide the game at Ligonier. Tomorrow the team will play against a Dunbar team. It was the original intention to have the Regulars and Yankees play a game there but this has been abandoned because many of the players are not available. Rita will probably do the advertising there.

Hornestad is scheduled to appear here on Saturday. Manager Wilson said yesterday that if the grounds were not in shape the game would be cancelled. Hornestad is the only team that will play an exhibition game here. The trip to Frick has been called off.

The 650 chairs ordered by the manager for the grandstand will be received here either today or tomorrow. With the exception of Lacy Wherell and Frank Horne, all the players are in good shape. Wherell is rapidly regaining strength in his throwing arm and the soreness is disappearing. Horne was hit on the finger Saturday but is rapidly improving. There are a good many sore arms and legs in the squad but with the daily workouts the soreness is disappearing.

Notes.
Bert Gates of Elwood City, has been tendered a contract by President Travis. Gates will receive his first lesson experience when he does the mark and protector for the first game.

Up at East Liverpool Manager Tony Crane makes the players trying out pay their own expenses. No wonder he has 50 candidates.

Harry Hall, the man who had 17 points at Marietta, will be back when Unانون plays East Liverpool in the P. O. M. League. He has written President Travis for a job on the O. & P. league umpire staff. Hall failed to make good in the International League and has turned to umpiring.

O. & P. League managers just now are being flooded with requests to take casts from teams in other class leagues. Kansas City of the American Association wants to get rid of their surplus players to the O. & P., as are some of the teams in the Tri-State.

MORE STRINGENT RULES FOR FRICK LEAGUE TEAMS

Eligibility Clause Will Cause Some Firstwhite Stars to Play
Elsewhere.

According to announcement sent out by the Frick League management the rules governing the employment of players will be stringent this year. Only employees of the H. C. Frick Coke Company, Union Supply Company and the Water Companies who have been in the service of the several companies either four months prior to May 1 or who have been employed two months of the last 12 months prevented from further service by attendance at a regular day school shall be eligible to play in the league. Loss of service on account of sickness because of injuries or suspension of operation at works shall be considered as a period of employment.

This change applies to the present season and will mean in some cases the reconstruction of some of the clubs entered. The action will be completed about May 15. Schedules are now being drafted by committees of the different divisions and the season will likely open the week of May 20.

Divisions of the league have organized with the following officers:

Division No. 1, Latrobe—President, Joe Muller; Buggubay; Secretary, A. B. Muske; Whitney.

Division No. 2, Pleasant Unity—President, Dr. S. S. Wright; Pleasant Unity; Secretary, W. S. Lowe, R. F. L. Greenbury.

Division No. 3, Mt. Pleasant—President, F. E. Boyd; Scottsdale; Secretary, W. B. Butler; Scottsdale.

Division No. 4, Connellsville—President, R. C. Beuerher; Connellsville; Secretary, J. L. Williams; Connellsville.

TO BUILD BASKET BALL HALL AT LEISENRING

Old Master Mechanics Hall Will Serve
Both as Dancing Pavilion and for Cage.

Ligonier is scheduled to take its place on the basketball map next fall and winter. Not satisfied with taking down the pennant in the U. C. Frick league, the town is anxious for basketball competition. It may be that the step that will be taken by Ligonier will be followed by other plants in the region.

The plan is one of C. B. Franks, the superintendent. The master mechanics hall will be moved from its present situation to near the swimming pool. It will be repaired and made ready for a dancing hall this summer. Next winter it is proposed to close up the pavilion and make a basketball hall out of it.

Many trees have been planted at the cedar lawn this spring. Some are near the swimming pool and the balustrade distributed around among the houses. The gradual slope on one of the sides of the swimming pool will be graded and seeded and flowers planted. The erection of a harbor dock near the swimming pool is contemplated.

CASCARETS SURELY STRAIGHTEN YOU OUT

No headache, biliousness, upset stomach, lax liver or Constipated Bowels by Morning.

Are you keeping your bowels, liver and stomach clean, pure and fresh or Cascarated, or merely forcing a passage-way through these alimentary or drainage organs every few days with Salts, Cathartics, pills, Castor Oil or Purgative Waters.

Stop this at a meal wash-day. Let Cascarets thoroughly cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the undigested, sour and fermenting food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the decomposed waste matter and poisons in the intestines and bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will make you great by morning. They work while you sleep—never gripes, sickness or cause any inconvenience, and cost only 10 cents a box from your druggist. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never have headache, biliousness, coated tongue, indigestion, Sour Stomach or Constipated Bowels. Cascarets belong in every household. Children just love to take them.

FORMER RESIDENT DEAD.

Robert Ruby Was Well Known to Somerset Police.

Robert Ruby, formerly of Somerset, died at his home in Braddock Saturday morning at 2 o'clock, following a lingering illness from a complication of ailments. He was a veteran of the Civil War, having fought under General Lee, but in later years had many warm friends among the Union veterans.

He was married to Alice, daughter of the late Henry Koel of Somerset township, who died about eighteen years ago. Three daughters survive, Letitia Florence and Helen, the latter being the wife of David Martens, who removed to Pittsburgh several years ago. Decided was a brother-in-law of Austin Koel and James W. Nealey, of Somerset. Funeral services were held at Braddock Monday afternoon.

Robert Ruby came to Somerset in 1872. He was a bricklayer and contractor and was a member of the construction firm who built the Lutheran Church, the Somerton House, Odd Fellows building and the structure now occupied by the County Trust Company.

ALMOST A ROMANCE FOR FRICK LEAGUE TEAMS

TALE OF LORD ARTHUR AND ANNA McGONNIGAL.

Handsome Knight Saved Her Life and Won Her, but Suffragetting and Women's Societies Spoiled
the Love Story.

Turning the corner of the Rue de Merlingue rather abruptly, Anna's horse took flight at a woman's hat. He reared up on his hind legs and plunged violently forward. Just at that instant the saddle girth broke and the horse reared and fell back. It was a critical moment. Anna was in imminent peril. Just as the rider was about to be crushed under the animal there was a clatter of hoofs and a strong arm encircled Anna. She fell herself drawn into safety. She opened her eyes and there was the strong masculine face of Lord Arthur Athelstan, the handsomest man of the oldest family in England.

Being in the arms of Lord Arthur was much nicer than being crushed under the cruel and relentless kick of a horse. To be saved by Lord Arthur was social triumph, too. It was better than being presented to the king or invited to one of Lady Jane Nod Noodle's affairs. Every body would know who Anna McGonnigal was now. And when Lord Arthur asked if he might call it was certain that Anna would know everybody.

Lord Arthur was evidently very hard hit. It was certain. The beautiful girl he had held in his arms had made a great impression on his lordly heart.

Sir Knight Arthur was not a knight in love and was most happy when he obtained permission to call it was Anna's brother who greeted him; however, when he arrived at Anna's residence, and told him to make himself thoroughly at home.

"She will be very sorry to miss you," said Anna's brother. "I think she's out suffragetting this afternoon."

Lord Arthur left his card and walked sorrowfully away. The next day being bright and beautiful, Lord Arthur thought he might meet her riding in the park. She had been so sorry to miss him that Lord Arthur thought she might not object to a casual meeting there. But luck was against him. There was a meeting for the Prevention of Cruelty to Something or Other that day, and Lord Arthur rode and rode, and finally rode home in the beautiful twillight alone.

Then his regiment was ordered to the Soudan. Lord Arthur made up his mind to see her before he went away, and wrote her a pathetic note of appeal, which Anna answered with a beating heart, telling him to see her by all means! That she must see him before he went away to the war!

But the letter got mixed up in the voluminous mail of Anna, and Lord Arthur received only a note accepting the presidency of a society for the promotion of universal peace.

Pack,

A Man-Factory.

The Self Master colony at Union, N. J., is a mill that gets its grain from gutters and grinds from it men who are independent and honest.

The method of the colony is to take a man without asking him questions, to put him on his feet by setting him at some useful task, and by giving him complete liberty and 50 cents a week.

The Self Master colony has room for 10 men at a time, and the accommodations always are crowded. Its scruff is a keen one, for the colony aims to be self-supporting. It draws its members from seven classes—the man unable to find immediate employment, the man in middle life who has lost his business, the intemperate young man trying to control himself, the country boy stranded in the city, the rich man's son, wayward and estranged from his family, the man discouraged through domestic troubles, and the man run down physically and mentally and needing outdoor work. These are the worth-saving, who, if no help is offered them, drift down through the strata of free lodging-house existence into the mire of hobdom, criminality and hopeless mendicity.—Henry Carter in the World's Work.

Greek Theater Is Not Greek.

Another architectural fallacy has exploded. Prof. Charles Knapp, of Columbia university, who lectured before the San Francisco Archaeological Society on the subject of "The Roman Theater" announced the temerily to declare before his audience that the Greek theater at Berkeley isn't a Greek theater at all. Professor Knapp even denied the structure the right to claim to be Roman.

He claims that the well-known scenes of open air Sunday concerts in a sort of hybrid, of Greek and Roman styles of building the like of which has never before been erected in the history of the world.

The ground upon which he denies the Berkeley structure the right to the term "Greek" in that its stage is too deep, too wide and too high.

Crafty Wooer.

"How did Smiggins win Mrs. Willjums over to giving her consent to his marrying her daughter?" asks the young man with the large pipe.

"Met the old lady in the dark hallway and kissed her, then apologized, saying he was sure she was the daughter," explains the young man with the excited socks.—Judge's Library.

MY LADY OF DOUBT

BY RANDALL PARRISH

Author of "Love Under Fire," "My Lady of the North."

Illustration by HENRY THIEDE

COPYRIGHT, A.C.T. CLURE & CO., 1911

"Well, if you hadn't been at home, there would have been one along now," burst forth Grant rather roughly. "Those fellows out there are desperate enough to sack the house if that was their only method of getting food. And I promised they should have the chance."

"Oh, you did, indeed! That would have proven a friendly act."

"Necessity does not take much account of friendship. I was responsible for a hundred starving men. Under such conditions force would be justified. I doubt if I could control the fellows now if provosts should be released."

"There is no necessity for indulging in threats, Captain Grant," said the boy's voice coldly. "Elmhurst has never yet turned a soldier away in hunger. Peter will instruct what few servants remain to attend to the immediate needs of your men. May I ask how long you expect to remain?"

I thought Grant was walking nervously back and forth across the room.

"How long? Until night, probably. Then with a bite in our haversacks we'll take the road again. That is, providing you condescend to act as our host for so long a time. Odds like this reception is not over warm to my thinking."

"Elmhurst is not a tavern, sir."

"No, but the home of a loyalist—the commander of half those men out under. However I am not pleading for them, but myself personally. What welcome have I had? By all the gods, I was almost compelled to fight that bald-headed old fool to even gain admittance to the hall. Were those your orders?"

"Assuredly not. But you must consider circumstances, and forgive Peter

"I Opened the Door Wider, Wondering If I Dare Venture Upon Stepping by Unobserved, for being over zealous in my service, I received you as soon as I knew who you were."

"Yes," somewhat mollified, "I presume that is true, although you are chilly enough, the Lord knows. But what brings you here?"

"That must remain my secret, Captain Grant—for the present."

"Oh, very well. I thought it might have some connection with Eric's presence in this neighborhood."

"With Eric? What do you mean? Have you seen him?"

"Ah! so I've got below the surface at last! I thought I might with that thrust. Yes, I saw him last night. I didn't know what the devil the fellow was up to, but I thought I'd let him play out his game. It was a right nervy trick, so far as it went, but unfortunately the rebels came in before I discovered what it all led up to."

"You do not make it very clear to me."

"I told you it was not over clear to myself. This is all I know. When I joined Delavan last night just after dark, he had a young officer of Light Dragoons in charge of his advanced guard. I merely got a glimpse of the fellow as we rode in, and he looked so devilishly like Eric that I asked Delavan who the lad was. He said he had joined at Mount Holly with three men, was going through to Philadelphia with dispatches from New York, and was only too glad of escort the rest of the way. Being short of officers Delavan gave him charge of the van."

"Did he recognize you?"

"I hardly think so; it was pretty dark, and I was put on guard over the rear wagons. I supposed I would have ample opportunity to learn the truth after it became daylight."

"But you believed him to be Eric?"

"Yes, and after the attack I was convinced. He and the three men with him bolted and got away. Must have run at the first fire, for the fellows had us completely hemmed in. It was Eric all right, and that is about half the reason why I led my men back here—I wanted to find out if he was biding about the old place. Is it true you haven't seen him?"

"Quite true; indeed I had no reason to suppose him in the Jerseys at this time."

Grant remained silent, probably not wholly convinced that he was being told the truth, and yet not venturing to state openly his suspicions. However the other said no more, and finally the Ranger felt compelled to answer.

"Of course," he explained, rather lamely, "I couldn't altogether blame you for concealing the boy if he had shown up here, but you will realize that as a King's officer I have a sort of duty to perform."

"You would apprehend Eric? Would betray him into British hands? Is that your meaning, Captain Grant?"

"What else could I do? Don't be unreasonable! Boy as he is, no one in all that crew of rascals has done us greater harm. Again and again he has learned our secrets and brought Washington information of our plans. How he does it is the mystery of this department—how has personally offered a thousand pounds for his arrest. Surely you know that. Last night I thought we had him in our power, but the very devil seems to protect him from capture, even when luck brings him fairly within our grip."

"And so you came here to search for him?" I could feel the bitter scorn in the voice. "In his father's home!"

"I certainly did," angrily. "I said search the house from collar to garret before I leave."

"But you are on parole."

"Damn the parole. What do I care for a pledge given to a band of plundering outlaws? And what do I care for Eric? I chose for himself, and has no right to expect any mercy from me, and by all the gods, he'll receive none. I half believe that attack last night was his planning, and that not you have him hidden away here. Not listen to me! I do not desire to be harsh, but I'm a soldier. My men are not armed, but there are enough out there to handle the servants barehanded. No one can get out of this house without being seen; I've attended to that."

"And you propose searching the rooms?"

"I do. If you had been a little more genial I might have exhibited greater courtesy. But I haven't any use for Eric, and never had. Now you know the truth."

"It merely illustrates more clearly your character."

"You are always free enough with your comments. I shall do my duty to the King."

"Very well, sir," and the incensed Lieutenant pushed back his chair. "Then we clearly understand each other at last. I am sincerely glad of it. From now on I shall never again be guilty of mistaking you for a friend or a gentleman. No, I have no wish to listen to another word; you have spoken frankly enough, and I understand the situation. Perhaps it is only anger, but it gives me the excuse I have been seeking after a long while in vain. Whatever claim you may have had upon my regard in the past is over with, forever over with, Captain Grant."

"But—but, surely—"

"I mean precisely that. You can cover your despicable actions with the gloss of military duty, but I know you now as a revenging lar. Treat this house as you please. I refuse to have any more dealings or words with you. I provoked you and your men, as I would any others suffering from hunger, but that ends all. If you search this house do it by force, and in any way you please, but expect no assistance from me. I bid you good-day, sir, and will send Peter to call you when breakfast is ready."

I closed the crack of the door as he came forth into the hall, having no desire to be caught listening. My own position was more unpleasant and hazardous than ever. Whatever reason the Lieutenant might have for holding me prisoner I was convinced he possessed no knowledge as to my real identity. The probability was that after an interview I would be released. But Grant would recognize me instantly, and he proposed searching the house, room by room, seeking this man Eric. I must make my escape first. Yet how could this be accomplished? I heard Peter pass along the hall, and solemnly announce the serving of breakfast. He and Grant exchanged a few sentences, and then the latter strode to the front door, where he gave orders to the men. I watched the German officers come up the steps, while the majority of the others forming into irregular line, marched around the corner of the house. A small squad remained, however, on guard, facing the front entrance.

CHAPTER XIV.

Again the Lady.

I must think rapidly, and act as quickly. Yet, if what Grant had said was true, that he had already posted guards on each side the house, then escape by daylight was practically impossible. From all I could see there was no concealment close at hand, and while the fellows were without arms, yet their numbers were sufficient to make any attempt at running their lines extra-hazardous. And I had much at risk, for if taken it would be as a spy, and not a mere prisoner of war. There was no place for concealment in the library, but there might be upstairs, in the attic, or on the roof. The chance was worth the trial, and there could be no better time for such an experiment than while the three officers were at breakfast. Whatever servants remained about the house would be busily employed also, and probably I should have the entire upper portion to myself. Deciding to make the venture I laid my hand on the knob of the door, when it was opened quietly from without, and I was startled by the sudden appearance of Peter. Whatever excitement may have prevailed among the other members of this peculiar household this model servant remained with dignity unruffled. He surveyed me calmly, rubbing his bald head with one hand.

"You will pardon the delay, sir," he said calmly. "But circumstances have arisen changing the original plan."

"Will you kindly accompany me?"

"But where, Peter? I don't wish to be seen by these now arrivals."

"Have no fear, sir," confessing

ly, and with an authoritative wave of the hand. "The officers are at table, and will know nothing of our movements."

I followed meekly enough, and he led the way up the broad stairs to the second story, turning to the left in the upper hall, and coming to a pause before a partially opened door. A glimpse within made me deem it a music room, although I could see merely along one wall.

"You will enter, sir, while I return to the guests below."

With one glance into this perfectly expressionless countenance, half suspicious of some new trick, I stepped across the threshold. The curtains were drawn, and the room seemed dark after the sun-shine of the hall. I advanced a step or two, almost convinced the apartment was unoccupied, when a voice addressed me.

"One I mean you shall never regret."

"I am sure of that; yet I shall not betray everything even to you. Please face about with eyes to the front window. Yes, no, how do not look around until I tell you."

I heard her cross the room, her skirts rustling slightly, and then the faint clicking of some delicately adjusted mechanism. As this sound ceased, her voice again spoke.

"Was not Eric? And yet you knew him?"

"Very well, indeed," her eyes falling, "because it was myself."

CHAPTER XV.

Entombed.

I had not suspected it; however obvious it may appear now to those who read this tale, the possibility that she had been masquerading in an officer's uniform, indulging in warlike deeds, had never once occurred to me. She was so thoroughly feminine that her acknowledgement came as a distinct shock. I had, it is true, seen sufficient of life to be of charitable mind, and yet there was that within me which instantly revolted. She read all this in my face, but fronted me without the quiver of an eyelash, firmly withdrawing her hand.

"It is easy to perceive your disapproval," she said more coldly, "but I have no further explanation to make. I am sorry to have you think ill of me, but I feel that perhaps you might realize my action was justified."

"It is not that," I hastened to explain, ashamed of myself. "I have not lost faith in you. But I was brought up in a strict school; my mother was about sixteen then, and shall never forget our first separation. We found nothing down there then but a rough bunk, an old lantern, and the leather scabbard of a sword. But since then Eric has been compelled to hide there twice to escape capture, and we have made the room below more comfortable. You will be obliged to grope your way down the stairs, but at the bottom will discover flint and steel and a lantern with ample supply of candles. Peter will bring you food, if you need remain there for long!"

"Peter! Then he is in the secret?"

"Peter is in all secrets," she confessed. "From him nothing is at least so far as may concern the Mortmain family. You have yet to learn the deep subtlety of Peter, Major Lawrence. He sees all things, retains all things, and reveals nothing."

"A discovery already made."

"No, barely glimpsed; no short acquaintance such as yours has been could ever serve to reveal the character of Peter. Since his boyhood he has been my monitor and guide, and still he remains to me a silent mystery."

"An old servant?"

"Yes, born to the position, his father serving before him. There is no doubt in my mind but what he knew of this secret passage before Eric and I were born. Not that he has ever confessed so much, yet I am convinced our discovery of it brought no surprise to Peter. What do you suppose his age to be?"

"You supposed me to be the Lieutenant?"

"Why should I not? The voice was the same; at least sufficiently similar to deceive me, and he never addressed you in a way to arouse my suspicions. Is your brother named Eric?"

"Yes; I told you, did I not, that we two twins? The physical resemblance between us is very strong; no doubt our voices sound alike, or would to a comparative stranger. Will you not be seated, Major? We shall not have long to converse, and there is much to be said before these down-stairs complete their rather frugal meal—Peter has promised to delay serving as much as possible, but, as our master is not extensive, at best it will not be long. You overheard Captain Grant's threat?"

"Night riding with Hessian fighters," I broke in, "disguised in a Ranger's uniform!"

"Well, yes," she dimpled quietly, "even that."

I waited for something more, some explanation of what all this concealed.

"You trust me with so much?" I ventured, when she continued silent, "It would seem as if you might tell me even more."

"I cannot perceive whereby any further confession would serve you. Yet I have not refused to answer any question surely. It is hardly safe for us to remain here so long, and yet if I close the door, major, and I will close the door."

"You could scarcely expect me to be entirely without curiosity. I have been captured on the highway, brought here a prisoner, and held under guard all night. I supposed myself in British hands, only to discover that you have again proved to save me.

"Then your brother is not here?"

"Certainly not; Eric is in no danger—but, Major Lawrence, you are."

The earnestness with which she spoke made my heart leap. Whatever the girl's political sentiments might be, she was plainly desirous of serving Surely there must be a key to all this mystery. If, as I suspect, it was your brother, Eric, who led the attack on me, having mistaken me for another, then what was his purpose? And what has become of Eric?"

"She wrinkled her brows in perplexity, her hands nervously clasping the back of a chair.

"It is like being cross-examined by a lawyer. Perhaps if the secret was all my own I might freely confide it to you. I do not promise I would, but I might. As it is, I do not know you quite well enough. I believe you to be Major Lawrence, that you are all you represent yourself, but I am pledged to silence, and the lives of others depend upon my keeping faith. You cannot urge me to do what I deem wrong!"

"No; I shall always believe in you."

"I thank you for that," and her hand was extended frankly; "I would reveal one of the mysteries of last night if I was not fearful it might cost me your respect."

"I hardly know whether that remark is complimentary or not. You might mean that no other course was left you."

"Which I suspect is true, although it proved so I should willingly trust myself to your guidance, because of my faith in you."

"That is much better," her eyes laughing, yet as swiftly sobering again.

"But it is foolish of us to waste time in such silly speeches. There is too much waiting attention. Fortunately this house is not without its secrets, for when built by my grandfather this was the frontier."

"But does not Grant know?" I asked soberly.

"I understood he played here as a boy, and there is not much a lad fails to learn."

"He is not, without knowledge, surely, but here is something he never discovered. I would never have trusted him with the secret, and yet, as short a time as I have known you, I have no hesitancy. Isn't that a frank confession, sir?"

"One I mean you shall never regret."

"I am sure of that; yet I shall not betray everything even to you. Please face about with eyes to the front window. Yes, no, how do not look around until I tell you."

"I think you suspect already, and I should far find it impossible."

"I hardly know whether that remark is complimentary or not. You might mean that no other course was left you."

"Which I suspect is true, although it proved so I should willingly trust myself to your guidance, because of my faith in you."

"That is much better," her eyes laughing, yet as swiftly sobering again.

"But it is foolish of us to waste time in such silly speeches. There is too much waiting attention. Fortunately this house is not without its secrets, for when built by my grandfather this was the frontier."

The cambrie edges and insertions—lots one, two and three—are substantial and solid; the designs are varied and pleasing; edges will stand many washings, and the cambrie is smooth and soft.

Floucings—lots four to nine—are fine sheer cloth, elegantly decorated with solid, eyelet, openwork and spray designs.

Lots twelve and thirteen are individual patterns—one design of a kind—all tasteful, whether simple or elaborate.

As a whole this is a sale of the highest grade trimmings that comes to Connellsville. The economies are real and lower priced than anything we've had to equal them. Cottons are going up—and will likely remain high all summer. Orders for these lots were placed before the advance; otherwise there would be no such prices on this quality of merchandise.

The 1912 Girl Graduate

DEAR MISS CONNELLSVILLE:

While you were occupied planning the many details necessary to the success of your graduation, the materials for your graduation gown, and the "fixings" to complete your toilettes, have been quietly slipping in.

Today we have here an unending parade of dainty fashions for you. It is the most graceful display of cool, pictorially fabric loveliness Connellsville has ever had. Only refined, distinguished styles—those which fashion authorities have determined shall "live" are in this collection, purposely assembled for the 1912 girl graduate.

Will you come and see how well we've planned for you?

There's a wealth of variety among the Exquisite Millinery, Handkerchiefs, Imported Fans, Dainty Footwear, Fashionable Dresses, Lingerie, Trimmings, Summer Fabrics, Ribbons, Gloves, Hosiery, Toilet Goods, Corsets, Knit Underwear.

from which no girl need turn in disappointment. With our best wishes for your success—now and in the future. We are respectfully yours,

WRIGHT-METZLER CO.

Muslin Underwear in Charming Styles and Convincing Variety: Corsets: Both Maintain the Lines of the Slender Figure.

This event, to run throughout May, is planned for June brides, for women of fashion and women of thrift. Fresh and beautiful undergarments, made in stipulated styles and materials, of the newest fashion, and at prices averaging a third less than at any other time of the year.

These White Sale stocks embrace everything a woman seeks in selecting muslin underwear.

The materials are soft and fine—hainsack, cambric, flaxon, muslin, etc.

The lines are likable—varying from pretty to exquisite; the embroideries are neat and effective—or elaborate.

The stitching is small and carefully done.

The styles are in good taste—just the effects one would have if the garments were made at home.

The fit is accurate—neither so loose as to be bunched or so tight as to be hampering, but carefully patterned so that the garment conforms to figure and movement so accurately that the wearer is never reminded that she has it on. Dress fashion calls for slender lines—Wright-Metzler muslin underwear is so fashioned.

Prices are based on large orders—our two stores bought together. The collection is of new things—new, fresh garments different from anything we have shown.
